SICILIAN BANDITTI.-A report from the British consul at Palermo contains some horrible facts regarding the outrages by brigands in Sicily. He says that the whole island is infested with bands of robbers who capture large land proprietors and rich merchants and hide them in caves in the mountains until they are ransomed. Farmers are plundered of horses and cattle, while peasants who are suspected of being informers are persecuted, tortured or murdered outright. Great landowners living within four hours of Palermo are afraid to remain on their estates unless they are surrounded by private mount-ed guards. One of these bands is noted among all of them for its terrible cruelties. The outrages perpetrated by them call for speedy vengeance and their immunity from punishment is due entirely to the supineness of the government. This band has committed many murders characterized by the greatest atro-city. They have beheaded little boys and girls, cut their bodies in halves, and then thrown the mutilated remains around the country for dogs and hogs to eat. Many land owners who have incurred the enmity of the brigands have been treacherously assassinated, while others who have fallen into their hands have been condemned to death by slow torture.
